AN APPEAL TO CIVIC PRIDE . . .

There are two nuisances particularly prominent in Elba right now.

They are:

(1) Those who think it's funny to call someone's telephone number late at night, then hang up.

(2) Those who toss bottles (usually soft drink bottles) from a car when they finish their drink.

Both are equally indicative, not only of a lack of civic pride, but a lack of intelligence.

The perpetrators of both practices can be caught but it will be expensive. Before going to the necessary expense, an appeal is being made first to the perpetrators themselves. If the practice continues, then the nets will be laid and authorities should show no mercy to the first one to be caught.

Broken bottles not only can damage a tire beyond repair, but a barefoot child can suffer serious injury.

Late-at-night telephone calls have been known to seriously impair the victim's efficiency the next day, particularly among the aged.

SOIL CONSERVATION NEWS

BY T. C. SELF

Registration of members will begin at 5 p.m. with the entertainment program starting at 6:30, and the business session at 7:15.

Co-op officials have announced that a "great new benefit" to be provided its members by Covington Electric, will be revealed at this meeting. This, together with an outstanding program lineup, has heightened interest in this year's session to a new peak.

Clyde T. Ellis, General Manager of the National Rural Electric Cooperative Association, Washington, D. C., will be the principal speaker. Elected to the Arkansas Legislature when only 23 years of age, Ellis later served in the U. S. Congress. He was elected to his present position as head of the national service organization of more than 900 electric cooperatives over the nation while a member of Congress in 1942. A champion of the cause of rural electrification, Ellis is a dynamic speaker.

During the business session, Covington Electric members will receive reports of progress made by the Cooperative from President J. L. Bryan and General Manager Basil Thompson, and will elect two members to three-year terms on the Board of Trustees.

Harold Walker Goes To Forester Camp

Camp Grist - Alabama FFA members and other rural youth wrapped up a six-day forestry camp here last week with colors flying. The boys spent four hours daily in class, equal time on the recreation field and in between crammed for a tough final exam.

Attending the camp from this county was Harold Walker of the Elba FFA chapter.

More grass, more cows, and a need for water are the reasons Mr. Herbert Stanton of Jack, with the help of Soil Conservation personnel has installed a seep spring. Even though the spring development is less than a week old, Mr. Stanton is well pleased and is making arrangements for another to be installed in a different pasture. These spring developments provide a clean, adequate source of water for both cows and hogs at a small cost.

The spring in its natural condition was the same as most springs found in pastures. It was a small stream running so shallow that cows could not find a pot hole large enough to drink from. Hogs often took advantage of these areas, to stay cool and left nothing more than a hog wallow.

A spring development consists of tile placed in trenches in deep enough to intercept the spring water and channelled to a cement curbing tank where it is further piped to separate troughs for cows and hogs.

The cost of materials for developing a spring runs fifty to sixty dollars depending on the location. Should you have an interest in a spring development, contact your Soil Conservation personnel.

Co-Speaker . . .

Co-Speaker . . .

Clyde T. Ellis, above, General Manager of the National Rural Electric Cooperative Association, Washington, D. C., will be featured speaker at the 1961 annual meeting of the Covington Electric Cooperative on Saturday night, August 26. A native of Arkansas and a former Congressman where he was an aggressive supporter of rural electrification, Ellis heads the national service organization of more than 900 electric cooperatives over the nation.

Beside Still Waters

These stirring words of the Twenty-Third Psalm:

He maketh me to lie down in green pastures... He leadeth me beside the still waters... He restoreth my soul!

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. Democracy and civilization can survive only where there is a strong Church. Every person should attend service, hear the Word, and support the Church. We are (1) For his own sake, (2) For his children's sake, (3) For the sake of his community and nation, (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.
